★ Participation Dances

- ★ Anniversary/Marriage Countdown Dance All married couples dance on the dance floor and are called off the floor for years of marriage. The least years of marriage leave first leaving the longest married couple on the floor.
- ★ Multiplication Dance The bride and groom start in a circle of guests dancing. When the DJ says "Break" the dancing couple has to find new partners to dance with in the circle until everyone is dancing
- ★ Line Dance Women make one line and men make a second line across from them then the couple on the far ends dance between the lines to the end of the line.
- ★ Dollar Dance The male guests pay for the privilege of dancing with the bride, and by extension, female guests pay for the privilege of dancing with the groom.
- ★ Snowball Dance A fun variation on a swing dance that gets its name from the way that it gathers dancers. The dance begins with a large number of dancers forming a ring around a small number of dancers (maybe 4 or 6.) When the music starts only the people in the middle of the ring dance. A little while into the song, the band calls out "snowball!", at which point each of the dancers in the middle grabs a new partner from the ring. This occurs a few more times until everyone has been brought into the dance.
